

As a grocery distributor, you face tough challenges today. Product shortages. Communicating with your drivers. Getting consistent information out to your warehouse workers. And now: keeping your employees healthy, safe, and abreast of COVID-19 mandates that seem to change day-to-day.

Zipline is a communications and task management platform that dramatically improves execution and drives compliance.

The Results

Better business agility

Top-down visibility

Workplaces that meet all state and federal safety guidelines

We built Zipline from the ground up to solve the problems in retail distribution we experienced first-hand. Competing solutions were designed for office workers on desktop - not employees in a warehouse. So we built a solution that works for today's constantly changing retail and distribution businesses.

WHY ZIPLINE?

Single Source of Truth

Regulations and guidelines change every day. Ensure employees always know where to go for the latest communications so they're not operating from outdated information.

Visibility

At a glance, get a summary of what the entire fleet is doing and then drill down into specific bright spots or non-compliant areas. Understand who is excelling and who might be at risk.

Role-Based

Zipline cuts the clutter and confusion by filtering news, tasks, calendars and resources down to targeted roles and/or locations so employees spend less time understanding what they need to do to be compliant. No spin. More clarity. Everyone wins.

Easy to Use

Would your employees rather use Sharepoint or Instagram? We did the impossible and made Zipline fun so adoption is off the charts.

Real-Time Reporting

Generate compliance reports to see who read critical messages and marked tasks complete and who still needs to take action.

Mobile-First

Give your employees and managers visibility into tasks and execution in real-time, from any device.

Two-Way Communications

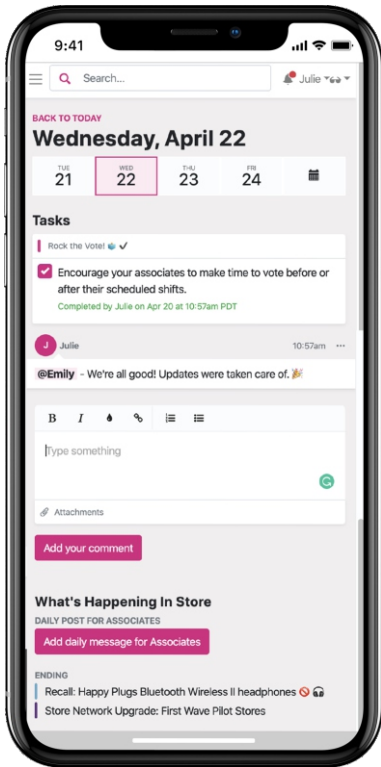

Surveys and a discussion module allows field employees to communicate directly with managers and HQ about what's happening at their location. Results can be viewed in real-time, giving business leaders the data they need to quickly change plans or policies.
